CATALOGUE.

MISCELLANEOUS COPPER COINS.

5 1 Coins of Canada, all fine. 20 pieces.

3 2 Another lot, mostly fine. 20 pieces.

21 3 Lafayette standing; rev., same incused; very fine, unique.

31 4 Bust of Wellington; rev., man on horseback; Cossack penny token, ranked amongst Canada coins; nearly fine, rare.

50 5 R. Sharpley, Montreal, head of the Queen; rev., "Importers," etc.; brass, fine, rare.

10 6 North American Token; good.

176 7 Bust of Col. De Salabery facing right; rev., "Ships, Colonies, and Commerce." Col. De Salabery was General of the Canadian forces at the battle of Chateauguay when the Americans were intercepted in their attempted march on Montreal. I have never before met with this piece; it is not mentioned by Sandham, or as yet by McLachlan in his Account of Canadian Coins, nor can I find that it has ever been offered at auction. For the facts concerning this piece I am indebted to Mr. McLachlan. Condition very fine. 17.

ouch 8 Rebellion Token; unusually good, rare.

3 9 Canadian Coins; selection, fair lot. 19 pieces.

3 10 Another selection, about the same quality. 21 pieces.

4 11 Un Sou; varieties, very good. 4 pieces.

1 12 Copper-heads; currency of '63, '64, mostly Western; a good lot. 100 pieces.

1 13 Copper-heads; another lot, equally good. 100 pieces.

1 14 Copper-heads; another lot, same quality. 100 pieces.

1 15 Copper-heads; another lot, same quality. 100 pieces.

16 Copper-heads ; another good lot, some larger. 50 pieces.

17 Copper heads ; another lot, fine. 28 pieces.

18 Copper-heads ; rare varieties. 5 pieces.

19 A remarkable collection of Roman Catholic medals ; nearly all are oval, with loops and rings ; a great diversity in the designs, and many of the medals are of a high order of workmanship ; a most desirable lot, mostly in copper and brass, some are gilt, some plated ; sizes from 12 to 30. 36 pieces.

20 Gun Money, James II., 1790 ; crown ; barely fair, scarce.

21 Masonic Half-penny ; fine, scarce.

22 Lady Godiva Half-penny ; woman on horseback ; rev., elephant ; pierced, fair, scarce. 22.

23 King's Farthing, 1669 ; good, rare.

25 Half Farthing ; various dates. 5 pieces.

26 Farthing, 1754 ; bent as a witch token.

27 A set of Boulton and Watt's coinage of 1797 ; the Two-penny piece is uncirculated, the Penny uncirculated and partly bright, the Half-penny a bronze proof ; rare, and most desirable as a set. The Half-penny cost seven shillings in London. 3 pieces.

28 Boulton and Watt's Two-penny piece ; fine, though the edge is a trifle bruised.

29 English Pennies ; two of Boulton and Watt. 8 pieces.

30 Half-pennies ; George I. to Victoria. 13 pieces.

31 Farthings ; William and Mary to Victoria ; a good lot. 34 pieces.

32 English Tokens ; half-penny size, mostly poor. 25 pieces.

33 English Tokens ; a trifle better lot. 16 pieces.

34 English Medalets, mostly of Sovereigns ; an interesting lot. 12 pieces.

35 English Tokens ; penny size, poor to good. 7 pieces.

36 English, Scotch and Irish business cards ; a good and rare little lot, mostly farthing size. 11 pieces.

37 One-third Farthing ; Victoria, 1868 ; bright, rare.

38 Model coinage of Victoria ; Half Farthing to Sixteenth Farthing ; uncirculated, rare. 5 pieces.

39 One Double, Guernsey ; good. 3 pieces.

40 Two Doubles, Guernsey, 1858 ; fine, rare.

41 Penny, Half-penny and Farthing ; Isle of Man. 4 pieces.

8 42 States of Jersey; Thirteenth and Twenty-sixth Shilling; good. 3 pieces.

26 43 Barbadoes Penny; Indian head; rev., pineapple; fair, scarce.

½ 44 Stiver and Half Stiver; good. 4 pieces.

3½ 45 Anglo-Indian Coins; good lot. 12 pieces.

UNION ENVELOPES.

This collection is the property of a lady, and was selected from upwards of 40,000.

A few duplicates will without doubt be found, but the number is very small, and probably none in any one lot.

As in the collection sold by me April 8th, any difference whatever in design, motto, inscription, size or quality, is held to constitute a variety.

The condition is perfect or nearly so; all are unused, great care having been exercised in the selection.

Much disappointment was felt, owing to the sale in one lot of the collection mentioned; and notice is given that this collection will not be sold entire, but in small parcels, thus giving an equal chance to all who may order.

897 A set of the United States National Medals, military and naval; copies by Thomas Wyatt, comprising the entire series of the Revolution and the war of 1812; as is well known, several of these medals are extremely rare, and copies only can be had; 41 pieces, arranged in seven velvet-lined trays, and all inclosed in a handsome book form case, leather bound and with gilt edges and clasps. These sets are so rare that I have never before known one to be offered for sale. Made many years ago, the case is slightly worn and the velvet somewhat faded, but the medals are all in perfect condition. See Wyatt's work, ante No. 476.

898 The Presidents of the United States, from Washington to Polk; a series in electrotype by Wyatt; with one exception they all have the ordinary Peace Medal reverse. Where Wyatt got his obverses I know not, as several of them do not exist in the regular series. 13 pieces. Put up in the same style as the National Medals, and, like that series, very rare.

899 Four medals of Abraham Lincoln, each bearing his bust; one a Sanitary Fair Medal issued at Chicago, another with broken column reverse, and two of smaller size, all bronze, in perfect condition; all arranged in a tablet set in a deep black walnut frame under glass, with autograph signature of Lincoln and letter from Secretary Robert T. Lincoln; unique memorial of the Martyr President.

900 Solid silver breastplate, 26 inches in circumference, presented by the United States Government by the hand of Gen. Lewis Cass, to Cataw, Chief of the Ottawas, for his fidelity to the American cause during the last war with England. Cataw wore this breastplate till the time of his death, which occurred in 1826. It was bequeathed to his nephew, who kept it buried for over 50 years. It was lately dug up and sold to a jeweler at Petoskey, from whom it was purchased by Mr. Jenison. It is circular in form and somewhat concave. In what may be called the field there is represented at the right an Indian standing, wearing a medal, his head adorned with peacocks' feathers and his nose with a ring; in his left hand a string of wampum, in his right a calumet; on the left stands an American officer, a General in full uniform, offering the Indian, of course, a little more wampum; between them stands a vigorous but mild-visaged bear; above them, in a galaxy of stars, soars the American eagle; to the right and left two heavy silver bosses; at the bottom, "Chief-Cataw-Chief"; the whole surrounded by a circle of 21 suns, moons and stars; curious and unique, being without doubt the only object of the kind ever presented by the United States Government. With the breastplate is a handsome blue velvet-covered frame or cushion 12½ inches square, on which it is displayed.

901 Satin lined case, morocco covered, with gilt clasp and hinges, containing six beautiful Centennial Medals, two with the head of Washington; all brilliant proofs, in tin, five silvered, and one gilt. 27.

902 Centennial Medal; head of Washington; velvet-lined case; tin, proof. 33.

903 Centennial Medal; Liberty kneeling; rev., "In commemoration," etc.; silver, proof, in case. 24.

COIN SALE CATALOGUES.

All priced, unless otherwise stated, generally in ink and neatly done; a few have printed prices. It will be noticed that, with few exceptions, these Catalogues were issued from ten to twenty-six years ago, and, as collectors are aware, nearly all Catalogues of that period are rare. About sixteen years ago I commenced purchasing from dealers and others, their remainders of Catalogues, and continued to do so till the attainable stock was exhausted; many of these, where the number was large, went to the paper mill, but what I deemed a suitable number were reserved for sale. A comparison of the different lists which I have issued will show the comparative meagreness of my present stock, rare Catalogues, one after another, being dropped from each successive list. Of several of the following I cannot furnish a duplicate.

904 1855 P. Flandin, N. Y., June 6; very rare.

922 1861 Alfred S. Robinson, N. Y., May 29, 30.

923 1861 Daniel E. Groux, Phil., July 29. Catalogue of a choice and valuable museum, illustrated books, etc.

The sale did not take place, and most of the library afterwards came to me in six enormous boxes, which, besides the books, contained a large quantity of newspapers in files, together with a vast amount of private papers, from which an astonishing biography of the old Freneh adventurer—who was the first of his line of coin sharps and self-styled experts—might be compiled. Most of his books and papers went appropriately to the junk store; the manuscripts I still treasure.

924 1862 P. Fleury, N. Y., Feb. 10, 11.

COINS OF CHINA.

Collected and classified by Rev. Justus Doolittle, an eminent Chinese scholar and numismatist; arranged on cards 5½ x 8 in. The references by numbers in red on the cards, are to a translation of a Chinese work on Coins, "Chronicles of Cash: a New Arrangement." (See below, No. 1226*a*.) references in black are to R. Wylie's work, "Chinese Coins of the Ta-ts'ing Dynasty." (See below No. 1226*b*.) Like most Chinese Coins, they are nearly all in a sort of bronze, varying in composition at different periods; they are generally carefully selected specimens, and it is said that many of the earlier ones are extremely rare.

1182 2150 B.C. Tarng-kin-hor; a fork-shaped coin of the Shun dynasty; very fine, and rare. 38 x 24.

1183 245 B.C. Kew-taou; the smallest of all the Taou; razor shape, very rare; length 83, breadth 11.

1184 245 B.C. Kew-taou; different inscription, equally rare; length 84, breadth 11.

1185 139 B.C. Sarn-choo. 15.

1186 139 B.C. Woo-choo-tsein; edge raised to prevent clipping or filing; fine. 16.

1187 9 A.D. Tar-tseucn-woo-shih; very fine. 2 pieces.

1188 9 A.D. Kee-taou; key-shaped coin of yellow bronze; fine, and very rare. 44 x 16.

1189 9 Tar-poo-warng; fork-shaped coin; very fine. 29 x 16.

1190 9 Hor-poo; fork-shaped coin; large, very fine, and rare. 37 x 15.

1191 9 Hor-poo; shorter and broader than the last; fork-shaped. 31 x 19.

1192 9 to 569 A rare lot of coins, called by various unpronounceable names, comprises the first of the iron Tsien and one undescribed piece. 11 pieces.

1193 620 Kae-yuen-toong-paou. It is said that Queen Wun-tih left the impression of her nail in the mould, hence the curved line on the reverse.

1194 841 Kae-yuen-tsien; copper, coined from the bells and images of the suppressed Buddhist temples; rare. 15. 2 pieces.

1195 937 Teen-fooh-yuen-paou; coined indiscriminately, by the government or the people, from a standard pattern. 15.

1196 958 Chow-yuen-tsien; coined from the metal of the Buddhist temples, under the Emperor's personal supervision; rare. 16.

1197 569 to 1022 A selection; three examples, showing the impression of the Emperor's own hand-writing in the mould; of the variety numbered 126, it is said that no less than 1,830,000,000 were coined. 22 pieces.

1198 960 to 1279 Coins of the Shun dynasty; great variety in size, and material varying from bronze to iron; some are coined from copper utensils, and on several the inscription is the Royal autograph impressed in the mould; a desirable collection. 119 pieces.

1199 960 to 1279 Selection; one a good example of the Garn-paou-hor-choong-paou, of fine workmanship and large size. 7 pieces.

1200 1333 to 1367 Coins of the Mongol dynasty; on one of large size it is said the inscription indicates that it is coined of white copper; it seems to be of the usual material. 4 pieces.

1201 1368–1398 Coins of the Ming dynasty; some inscribed as of white, others of red copper; the largest is 10 Tsien or Cash, made of superior brass. At the same period the Japanese issued a similar coin. 6 pieces.
